

Engagement.

Mrs. Emma Mooney announces the engagement of her daughter, Carrie A. Mooney, to Mr. Eugene E. Kahn. The marriage will take place July 23.

Reception at the Amelia Palace.

The society people who have heretofore voted, receptions a bore—were obliged to change their minds on Friday at the Amelia palace, when they saw the magnificence of the decorations and the artistic effect. The rooms were decorated by Huddart, and were certainly a triumph of the decorator's art. The colors seen in the drawing and music rooms were white and deep red, the scheme being admirably carried out in white carnations, American Beauties and crimson rambler. Whole branches of the crimson rambler were used, the mantel being surrounded with the lovely color. In a high vase of pale green Venetian glass, American Beauties glowed with a brilliant light, and in smaller vases of the rarest ware white carnations filled the air with their perfume.

In the library the color scheme was yellow, the punch table presenting a beautiful picture, with its sun-colored ribbons and dainty candle shades. Crystal candelabra at either end held yellow candles, and an immense cut glass punch bowl was placed on a piece of the most exquisite Russian lace. In a vase a mass of lavender centerau gave a touch of the needed contrast. The dining room decorations were most unique, the colors being deep red and green. The two large round tables were used, the one for the serving of refreshments and the other to hold the most unique decorations that have perhaps been seen in the city. Three blocks of crystal-like ice were almost covered with masses of the crimson rambler and asparagus plumosa, and from within the triangle thus formed, streams of cold air fanned through the rooms kept the temperature at a proper pitch. The same colors, red and green, were seen in the decoration of the table in the other end of the long room, where the refreshments were served. Here a pyramid of fruit formed the centerpiece, and was surmounted by a vase of deep red carnations. Around the table, alternating with heavy silver candle sticks, were large bows of broad satin ribbon in the red and green shades. Exquisite cut glass for the ice and the handsomest of silver services for the coffee added to the beauty of the table, while from above the red lights shed a cheerful glow over all.

Delightful music was furnished by the Deseret Mandolin club, under the leadership of Leon De Witt Niles, which was stationed in the rear hall, and a constant stream of guests filled the rooms during the hours of the reception.

Mrs. Holmes received her guests in the drawing room, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Sarah Bransford, and Mrs. Perry S. Heath. In the dining room Mrs. W. G. Lamb of Park City served ice, and Mrs. Jay T. Harris poured coffee. Punch was served in the library by Miss Laura Bransford and Miss Grace Emery.

Kensington Tea.

One of the delightfully informal parties of the week was the Kensington tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Alma Katz and Mrs. Heber M. Wells, at which Miss Edna Shearman was the guest of honor. The rooms were prettily decorated with sweet peas and purple clematis blossoms, and the guests enjoyed a merry hour of chat over thimbles before the serving of refreshments. The guests present to meet Miss Shearman were: Mrs. Harry David Gue of New York, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. J. R. Folson of San Francisco, Mrs. George A. Lowe, Mrs. Le Grand Young, Mrs. T. G. Webber, Mrs. J. H. Young, Mrs. Kenneth Kerr, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. David Hempstead, Mrs. S. F. Fenton, Mrs. E. A. Tripp, Mrs. J. L. Frankel of New York, Mrs. W. Mont Ferry, Mrs. Hal Russell, Mrs. Frank Jennings, Mrs. C. S. Burton, Mrs. Shirley Webber, Mrs. Don Coray, Mrs. Robert Roy Hampton, Mrs. Schoppe, Mrs. L. E. Ritter, Miss Edith Shearman, Miss Katherine Lowe, Miss Hanauer, Miss Fannie Hanauer, the Misses Howat, Miss Emily Read and Miss Thomas.

Musical Events.

Though the coming week has little planned in a social way, there will be two large musical affairs which are society events at the same time. The song recital to be given at the First Congregational church Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Coleman and Miss Coleman promises to be one of the most delightful events of the season. The young lady is to make her first appearance in the city after a season of study under the best teachers to be found, and a large number of her friends are looking anxiously forward to the pleasure of hearing her.

Unusual interest is expressed in the song and piano recital to be given in the same place tomorrow evening under the auspices of the music section of the Ladies' Literary club. Miss Agatha Berkhof has just completed her second year's work with Mrs. O. L. Fox of Chicago, and her progress has won great commendation from her experienced and critical teacher. Equal interest is felt in Mr. Shepherd's work. It is almost a year since Salt Lake has had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Shepherd in solo work. The greater part of this time has been spent with his former teacher, Carl Paelen of Boston. Mr. Shepherd wins admiration for his technique; his interpretation commands attention and confidence, but his greatest endowment is probably in the line of composition. The programme appears elsewhere in the paper, and will appeal to all of Salt Lake's music lovers.

Hop at the Post.

The proposed picnic at the military post last evening was replaced by a hop, and although all arrangements were made hurriedly and in an impromptu manner, the evening was delightfully passed. The Bachelors' club was tendered for use as a reception room, and dancing was enjoyed in the large hall till after midnight. The supper was served at the Officers' club. Those who went up from town to enjoy the post hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy, Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss McCormick, Miss Chamberlain, Miss Zane, Miss Salisbury, Miss Maud Thorne and the Misses Shearman.

At the Country Club.

The past week has been one of especial enjoyment for the members of the Country club. Not only has the weather been almost perfect for the enjoyment of outdoor sports, but the visitors' day which came in the middle of the week made a pleasant change for the regular members, as well as for their friends. On that occasion the hostesses were Mrs. Victor M. Clement and Mrs. M. M. McClure, and the day was perhaps the most delightful spent there this season. During the afternoon music was furnished by Schetler's trio and tea was served. In the Miss Katherine Judge and Mr. J. Wolcott Thompson.

Saturday's hostesses were Mrs. George Y. Wallace and Mrs. L. C. Miller, and in addition to tea at 4 o'clock, a table d'hôte dinner was served at 6:30. The special play of the afternoon was the approaching and putting contest at 4 o'clock, and prizes were awarded to Miss Judge and Mr. Robert J. Coleman.

At Cards.

One of the few card parties during the past week was a pleasant one given by the Misses Howat in honor of their sister, Mrs. Robert R. Hampton, Friday afternoon. Six tables were filled with guests, and at each table a different game was played. As the guests moved, the games changed, and the method was found to be thoroughly enjoyable. The score cards and tallies were Christy girls in black and white, and the prizes were some exquisite large pictures of the same. The first prize was won by Miss Jennings, and the second by Miss Phyllis Young.

At Dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Niles entertained at a delightful dinner party at the Alta club last Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Clet of Cincinnati and Dr. J. S. Niles of Philadelphia. The table was beautifully decorated with American Beauties as a centerpiece and individual bouquets of sweet peas. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Packard and Dr. and Mrs. Ed Motte.
